THE CHARTER ELECTION.

The Annual Election for City and Ward Officers takes place on Tuesday next. Although so near at hand, there is, as yet, except among those who seek to keep, or get office, very little stir or excitement on the subject. It is to be hoped, however, that this apathetic state of the public mind will not continue. The selection of capable and trustworthy men to fill the public offices is at all times a matter of grave consequence to the masses of the community. It is especially so, at the present time, in our own city, for we are about to start under a New Charter, and shall need all the ability, experience and devotion to the public interests that can be had to carry us safely through. There are men in abundance in our city, in the ranks of all parties, who posses the requisite qualifications for City and Ward Officers; who stand ready, if their services are wanted, to give them to the public, and who, if summoned to these posts by the People, will vindicate by their acts the wisdom of the selection. Such men, tho' always to be found among the intelligent, influential and conscientious members of either party, are not often classed among the active, working politicians; and hence, so long as party caucuses, which are ever ruled by the few, designate the candidates, and party tests are enforced to carry elections, these persons seldom obtain the nominations.

Yet in selecting men for Mayor, Aldermen, &c, the same rules ought to apply which govern individuals in their daily business transactions. It is absurd to entrust the management of public affairs to men who would not be employed, or trusted in private matters. If any of our readers had an important law-suit on his hands, a heavy debt to collect, a large demand to settle, or any other business of great moment to him, which required all the skill and prudence and wise counsel he could command to bring to a satisfactory adjustment, all the party ties and political considerations that could be urged would never induce him to employ an incompetent lawyer, or an untrustworthy agent, to do the work. For a still stronger reason, since it is the whole community and not merely the individual whom it concerns, no man should be placed in public station who is unfit to transact, or unworthy to be trusted with, private business.

Our City needs an honest, efficient and economical administration of its affairs. Our Merchants and Business men; our Mechanics and Laborers; our Landlords and Tenants are all alike vitally interested in this matter. The one class cannot prosper without the other. They must all sink or swim together. They have a common interest and a common object, therefore, to subserve, in supporting only those men and measures which shall secure the public good. The folly which prefers a weak and worthless candidate for public office to an honest and capable one, merely for party's sake, is only fit for the discipline of the straight-jacket. This general truth has double force, when applied to matters of Ward, Town or City Government. It is the height of absurdity, the very "error of the moon," to insist upon a man's abstract political opinions, as the only recognized test of his claims or qualifications to the offices of Constable, Assessor, Justice, or Alderman.

We doubt not that the great majority of our readers concur in this general view of the question. But opinion without action is little worth in this busy, go-ahead age. Those who so think must act accordingly. They have it in their power to turn the scales of election. Their votes, efforts and influence can secure the election of good men to all the prominent offices in the city. It is for them to say whether this shall be the issue of next Tuesday's contest.

From Madison.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL.

Madison, Feb. 25, '52.

The members are gradually getting back from their various homes and expeditions, and the machine will be in full operation again shortly. They find their old Madison friends in a sad state of agitation concerning the removal of the Capitol Several who have remained here, and have felt the full influence of the fever, have varied the entertainments of the day by getting up illustrations of the affair. One of them represents a huge pry under one corner of the building, and a long line of members bearing down on the lever, while Mr. Cain directs operations at one end, and our friend Graham gives the word at the other. Col. Botkin is represented at the other end, with a rope around one of the chimneys, holding back for dear life.

Another sketch represents the Capitol on wheels, and a crowd of members dragging it off at a rapid pace towards the lake. A locomotive stands ready at Waukesha to take hold of the ropes, and draw the building to Milwaukee, which appears in the distance. The people of Madison are shown, rushing into the streets, and gathering into a vast and excited crowd as they pour out upon one of the avenues, and rush after the missing edifice.

There seems to be almost perfect unanimity as to the removal of the Capitol, but the difficulty seems to be that they don't agree as to the location. Stephens' Point is a formidable rival to Milwaukee, and it is rumored that Mr. Hazleton is coming back to urge the claims of Richland Centre. If he does, all the rest may as well give in at once.

The subject of the prevalence of special legislation has occupied the attention of members to a considerable degree, and I am not without hopes that some action will be taken to drive a large number of the local bills out of the Legislature in a summary manner. Certainly the Constitution never contemplated such a state of things That document provides that corporations may be formed under general laws, but "shall not be created by special act, except for municipal purposes, and in cases where, in the judgement of the Legislature, the objects of the corporation cannot be attained under general laws." After an examination of numerous proposed charters, particularly of those for plankroads, I can find scarce any provisions in them, which our admirable general laws do not provide for, except that they wish to organize with less stock subscribed, and to charge from three to six times as large tolls, as the general laws prescribe. It is all wrong—if the law needs amendment, let it be done at once, and let these special privileges not be granted. What do the people know of the provisions of the numerous charters brought here, and logrolled thro' the Legislature? They can know nothing, until the operators come home and show them the documents, when it is too late for the victims to help themselves. Wherever just reason is given for an inability to organize under the general laws, there is a propriety in granting special charters, but not otherwise.

There are so many of these charters now before the Legislature that it is, perhaps, to be feared that no one will be found ready to take the lead in laying them on the table; but I am not without hopes that it will be done. A determined stand on the part of a few members would be effectual, and result in clearing the way for the important items of business yet to be considered, and in closing this session a fortnight earlier than can otherwise be the case. Who is to be the man to immortalize himself, and do the state good service in this important matter? I hope echo will find some other answer than merely—"Who."

Messrs. Stamm and Upmann, from our city, are framing a very handsome gallery of portraits of the members of the House, for the edification of their successors. W. H. W.

CERTIFICATES OF CHARACTER.—The Commercial of yesterday vouches for the fact that the "regular" party nominations "comprise the best and most substantial men," and that "it is the universal opinion that a better ticket, in all respects, "was never presented to the voters of the city!" Notwithstanding this strong endorsement, there are quite a number of uncasonable people who openly criticise these superlative nominations, and some even desperate enough to talk about "bolting" them. Nay, we find in the very same Commercial, which contains the averment quoted, a "loud call" upon THOMAS M. KNOX, to run for Justice of the Peace in the Third Ward, against the "regular" candidate, Mr. WILLIAM HOLLAND, and a modest intimation from Mr. KNOX, that he "submits to their wishes." In the Fourth Ward also, Mr. FRANCIS HAMILTON offers himself as an Independent candidate for Justice, against the "regular" nominee, HAVEN POWERS, Esq. This is only the "beginning."

TOUCHED ON THE RAW.—The letter of our associate at Madison, exposing the gross and inexcusable misrepresentations of the Commercial, touching the action of the Legislature, is thus noticed by that civil spoken and pleasant tempered print:

The Sentinel's "snapper" at Madison is unnecessarily troubled about the course of the Commercial. We advise him to devote his time wholly to the whig Assembly, as he, like the organ grinder's monkey, appears best in his place His correspondence when confined to subjects within the lenghth of his rope does very well, for nothing but "monkey shines" are looked for; but when loose he should not forget that he wears a red jacket.

How that "snapper" must have stung!

A CALL ON TO BOLTERS!—The "Regulars" in the Fourth and some other Wards, have made an example of the prominent democrats who supported the 'People's ticket" last spring. They have caught and confined them on the "regular nomination." This serves a double purpose; it prevents them from "bolting" and at the same time ensures their defeat. It strikes us that this is a case of "cruel and unusual punishment."

☞ A subscriber, writing from DUNKIRK, Dane County, closes his letter thus: "I see in "the Madison papers, that the Marine and Fire "Insurance Company is a bubble, and the notes "worthless: now, as I have a number of Dollars "of that bank, are they safe, or not?"

The notes in question are as good as gold. If our subscriber wishes practical evidence on this point, let him offer one of the notes to the "Madison papers" which pronounce them "worthless," and see how quickly they'll take it!

FIRST WARD DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.—The following nominations were made at the Democratic Caucus in the First Ward last evening:

Aldermen—Francis J. Jung, 2 years; S. E. Foote, 1 do.; A. Whalen, 1 do. Justice—Geo. W. Chapman. Assessor—Jacob Fink. Constable—A. Sifert. Delegates—James B. Cross, Jacob Donge, H. Schwarting.

BREAKERS AHEAD.—The Louisville Democrat publishes a letter from a well-informed friend at Washington, which gives this sensible piece of advice to the harmonions "democracy:"

"In our position, in sight of such an enemy, we might just as well lay aside that ridiculous notion I have heard so often expressed here in Washington, that the democratic party can nominate any man it pleases, and be sure of his election. We must have an available man, and the very strongest that can be put in the field."

☞ The Commercial of yesterday morning is down upon "The People" for presuming to talk about meeting in Convention to nominate Candidates for City and Ward Officers, in opposition to the party tickets. Why will "the People" be so perverse? The Commercial will take the job of electing Mayor, Aldermen, &c. off their hands, any moment.

THE RAIL ROAD AND THE WESTERN COUNTIES.

Messrs. Editors:—

By an article in the Sentinel of Thursday morning, copied from the Potosi Republican, the editor of that paper seems very singularly to have misapprehended the purport of the views contained in the "extract from an address presented by me to the stockholders," which you published some weeks since. He seems to think my object and that of the Company to have been, to hasten the work forward to the Wisconsin River and there stop. The first idea is quite correct, but the latter equally erroneous. The idea of stopping the work at the Wisconsin River, or of stopping it at any point short of the "banks of the Great River," is in no manner hinted at.

By that part of my address, I was endeavoring to show the impolicy of the contract entered into by a majority of the board during my absence, which made Madison the terminus of the contracts, and was arguing that instead of Madison, they should have extended it to the Wisconsin River. This would be between 30 and 40 miles nearer to the "banks of the Great River," and I cannot see how such an advance forward could be construed as a design to abandon the residue of that great enterprise, by the completion of which alone, we could expect to command the rich lead trade of Iowa and Grant Counties. The editor could barely have kept pace with my views as put forth a year ago in my report to the board, or in the year previous, in my "circular to capitalists." If he will examine those papers, he will find that I not only advocated the speedy completion of the road to the Wisconsin River, but also to the banks of the Great River; and it seems to me, the sooner it makes the first step, the sooner it may be expected to reach its destination.

The Republican's article states that "Land Speculators on the Lake shore have most sedulously entered the west to prevent emigration from passing beyond their grasp, and politicians," &c. The R. R. Co. ought not to be held accountable for the acts of Land speculators, nor politicians, and so far from any policy of this kind being advocated in the extract from my address, which forms the subject of this commentary, the language therein contained carries most clearly the opposite idea. Instead of proposing to "prevent emigration from passing beyond" us, I was endeavoring to impress on the stockholders the importance of providing the means of sending them forward as fast as possible; and for this purpose, stated as follows: "By a proper effort, that whole line can be completed by the opening of navigation, a year from next spring, and by that means, in the year 1853, the great line of emigration will pass over our road, and by Steamboats on the Wisconsin and Mississippi, be transported to all that broad country, embraced in Iowa, Minnesota and northern Wisconsin, which, through this channel, will receive its population."

I do not profess to be an exponent of the "views and designs" of the present board; but hope they will do nothing worse for the dwellers in Grant County, than to carry out my idea of completing the road to within some 60 or 70 miles of the banks of the great River by a year from next spring. In which case I think that our friends of the West, will have little cause of complaint.

I am, very respectfully,
Your and their ob't, serv't,
BYRON KILBOURN.

RESOURCES OF ILLINOIS.

We will now look to the trade of lead, a commodity in which Illinois is so rich, that she could readily supply the world, and promised so to do while protection was being afforded (by the tariff of 1842) to its producers; and here we are fortunately able to give the precise facts, in reference to the trade, showing the amount of 1842 and 1846:

RECEIPTS AT NEW ORLEANS.

Tariff of 1842. Pigs.		Tariff of 1846. Pigs.
1843,	571,000	1847,	639,000
1844,	639,000	1848,	606,000
1845,	732,000	1849,	518,000
1846,	785,000	1850,	415,000
		1851,	325,000
Increase 40 per cent.		Diminution 60 per cent.

Believing that it may interest our friends in Illinois to understand by whom it is that the domestic demand for lead, is now being supplied. We give a statement of imports under the tariff of 1846, as follows:—

	Pounds.	Value.
1847-8,	324,905	$6,988
1848-9,	2,634,709	85,367
1849-50,	36,997,751	1,182,357
1851-52,	43,000,000	1,500,000"

I have copied the above from a very valuable agricultural journal, called the Plough, the Loom, and the Anvil, not only to show the evil effects of the Tariff of 1846 upon the lead trade, but to show the ignorance of our down-east friends in regard to our now State of Wisconsin; for here Illinois has the credit of producing all the lead received at New Orleans, while the truth is that the actually produces not more than one twentieth of it! Wisconsin should be substituted for Illinois in this extract. Two important reflections grow out of this error; one, that we should take some measures to let the public know what are the resources of Wisconsin; the other, that our products should be protected by a tariff that will prevent their being superceded by those of foreign countries. Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church.

The Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, takes the name from the two religious bodies that united and formed it, viz: the Associate and the Reformed Presbyterian. This union was affected in the year 1782.

The Church is Calvanistic and Presbyterian corresponding, in doctrine, worship and discipline, to the Presbyterian Churches of Scotland and Ireland. It receives the Westminster confession of faith and catechisms, as expressing what it believes the scriptures teach.

In 1804 a Theological Seminary was established by the branch of the Church, the first in the United States under any denomination.

There are at present five Synods and two hundred and fifty Ministers. It has an extensive Home Missionary System, and sustains a Mission at Damascus, and one in Oregon.

The A. R. Congregation of this City—though having to struggle with the difficulties peculiar to most new organizations, is yet sanguine in the hope that under God their efforts will be crowned with success.

The disastrous fire of the 15th instant, deprived them of their beautiful hall, in which they met for worship.

Service for the present, will be held in the Free Congregational Church at 10½ A. M. and 7 P. M. A.

MR. WALKER AND THE RAIL ROAD LOANS.—We are happy to learn, from the following letter, published in the last Fond du Lac Journal, that Ex-Secretary WALKER has again succeeded in negotiating the Eleven Million Rail Road Loan. He has done so, if report speaks truly, several times before, but somehow or other the capitalists he had caught slipped through his fingers. We trust that this time he will hold on to them:

Fond du Lac Feb. 24, 1852.

MR. BRESON:—We learn from a private letter which we recived last evening from New York, that Hon. Robt. J. Walker has succeeded in negotiating both the loans, which were the object of his mission. Our informants are reliable men and are property holders in this vicinity—and we have no doubt that they are truly informed upon the subject. This will place the speedy completion of the Valley Road beyond a question.

Yours Truly,
GILLETT, TRUESDELL & TYLER.

WINTRY WEATHER.—We had an old-fashion snow-storm yesterday with the wind at East and south. The Pacific, which started in the morning for Sheboygan, must have found the weather outside thick and stormy.

POLICE COURT.—The only item in this court yesterday was the arrest of four men for assaulting Watchmen in the 3rd. Ward. They were held to bail and trial set down for the 4th of March.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Trial of Wm. Ratcliffe for the Murder of David Ross.

BEFORE JUDGE HUBBELL.

District Attorney Butler and E. G. Ryan for the State.
J. E. Arnold and A. D. Smith for Prisoner.

FOURTH DAY.—FEB. 27th.

Cross Examination of John White. When Radcliff first came to the door his appearance was so drowsy as to attract witnesses' attention; he rubbed his eyes as if just aroused from sleep. When Conover came for witness he had a warrant; did not spend much time at stage office. Radcliff said, in answer to Page's question do you know Ross? what Ross? Radcliff said in course of the conversation that he left his house about eight o'clock, with Ross, the evening before; that he parted with him at Kellogg's Saloon, east side of Spring St. Bridge; that he then immediately returned home. The distance from Kellogg's Saloon to prisoner's house is about as far as from here to United States hotel. Witness is confident that Page put his hand on prisoner's shoulder and said Radcliff "you are his murderer," Radcliff's reply was, "I did not do it;" is sure that Page said Ross is murdered. Radcliff was not dressed at this time. The arrest then took place. The hand-cuffs were then pulled out, and witness remarked he should be dressed first, and it was done right away. Radcliff's wife was moaning; don't know that she had the tooth ache; she gave a loud cry when Page said "you are his murderer." The clothes prisoner put on were of a brownish color. He was interrogated as to what clothes he wore on the day previous. The vest witness took, prisoner said was the one he wore the day before; has no recollection that prisoner said that the coat he put on was the one he wore the day before; the color of coat was dark. Witness does not think he had the vest in his hands before prisoner was ironed; cannot say whether prisoner put the vest on the table in the kitchen or not. The coat was a sack coat. He wore it to jail. He was asked whether those boots were the ones he wore the day before. The boots have been handled a good deal. The Grand Jury had them, and they were tossed about considerably. They have lain in the Jail office most of the time. No more mud could have got on to them.—The boot shown witness was the one exhibited at the inquest. Witness recollects showing the boot with the piece taken out to Mr. Smith. The spot on the boot was then getting darker. The spot was cut out for the purpose of testing whether it was blood or not. Don't recollect at whose suggestion the spot was cut out. The vest shown witness is the same one shown to Mr. Smith by witness. The spots on the vest were cut out by Dr. Garner by order of the Grand Jury. The boot was a good deal more soiled than it is now. It looked like a boot worn about a day after being polished. The dirt was light; saw no other spots on boots; witness has no opinion as to what the spot was. There was mud above the heel and some distance above the soles. The weather was dry at the time of the murder. There were a few pools of water on the marsh. Witness walked on the marsh; sunk down a little way; if he had sunk down six inches he would have mired into black earth. After taking boot to Coroner witness made inquiries for residence; went back to Radcliff's house and made a thorough search for money and shirts. We removed the privy to examine the vault, but found nothing; saw no marks of blood about the yard; saw no chicken heads or entrails, nor any pieces of meat; noticed some meat in the kitchen; did not see any chicken feathers; prisoner made no objection to witness's taking vest or boots.

Witness requested him afterwards to take off his pantaloons, to exhibit to the Grand Jury, and he did so, cheerfully. Prisoner made no objection to witness taking any article to exhibit to Jury. Witness believes he didn't find any spots or discoloration indicating blood on any other garment of prisoner. He wore a cap to jail. Witness examined it for marks and spots. Saw a hat at the house. Witness thinks prisoner was about to put that on, and he remarked—you had better wear a cap. Knows the trade of Radcliff—found the shirt among the dirty clothes—it was dirty—the breast was soiled—seemed as if it had been worn several days. Saw no spots on the shirt indicating blood—don't recollect seeing an ink stand or writing paper in the house—asked Radcliff what time he got home—he said about 9 o'clock. There was a brass clock in the house—it was not compared with witnesses' time—don't recollect that it was with the time of any of the others. Robert Bonham was not along at the time of arrest.

Direct examination resumed. Mr. Page stood in front of prisoner, and Mr. Conover and witness on the side.

Cross examination resumed. There was no essential difference as to the opportunities for observation. They stood at equal distances from prisoner.

Mr. Page, called on part of prosecution; deposed—was Under Sheriff of this County in May last. Knows the prisoner—did not know David Ross—knew of the time of Ross' death. (It was admitted that the day of the death was the 4th of May.) On the 5th of May witness was called on by Mr. Conover and Mr. Wheelock, about 3 o'clock in the morning. We went first to the jail and procured arms and irons. We then went to the Stage office. We arrived at the house about 4 o'clock, and rapped at the front door three or four times, and no one answered. We were there from 8 to 10 minutes. Went to the back-door and rapped 3 or 4 times—were there from 5 to 8 minutes. Prisoner came to the door and opened it. Mr. Conover saluted him, as witness thinks. Witness first remarked to prisoner: "Do you know Ross" He asked "what Ross?" Witness said David Ross. Prisoner answered yes—he lives on Walker's Point. Witness asked—where is he—he said he has gone away. Witness asked where has he gone. He answered on the boat. Witness asked when. He first said yesterday, and then said this morning. Witness asked how do you know he has gone away. He said Ross told him he was going. Witness asked when did you see him. He replied yesterday. Witness—where. He said on Walker's Point. Witness—what time. He said yesterday afternoon, at my house.—Witness asked when he was at his house. He said at supper. Witness asked him what time he left there. He first said 9 o'clock, and immediately after said about 8. Witness asked if any one went with him.—He said yes, I went with him. Witness asked how far. He said he went across Spring St. Bridge, to the corner, by Kellogg's Saloon.

Here Radcliff's voice commenced trembling and he hesitated more in his answers—seemed excited.

Witness was standing near him and touched him on the shoulder and said: "Radcliff, you are the murderer of Ross." He answer was—"No, Mr. Page, I didn't do it."

When he came to the door he had no dress on but his shirt; a blue and white striped shirt. During the conversation with prisoner, just related, Radcliff replied with much hesitation, to all the inquiries. As soon as he came to the door, and before anything was said, he put his hand up to his face, and very frequently, during the conversation, he put his hand to his face. It was very difficult to get his eye while witness was speaking. Immediately after the door was opened we heard the groans and mournings of a woman. He proceeded to dress himself after he was arrested, and after he put on his clothes he was hand-cuffed, and the house searched.

Mr. White and witness made the search, Conover and the prisoner being in the kitchen. The door which we entered opened into the kitchen. It was light enough to distinguish a countenance. It was fairly day-light. The search was a thorough one, and no money was found except 4 or 5 shillings in prisoner's pocket; found a shirt up stairs; this was the only dirty one we found; found it in the chamber in the back room; there were 3 rooms in the chamber; found shirt in a basket of dirty clothes; couldn't say whether it was on top or not. It was very dirty. It was a white cotton shirt with a linen bosom and collar; looked as if worn a week by a laboring man. The collar was dirty and down, and soiled. The starch was out of it. We inquired about all of his clothes. He pointed out the clothing he wore the day before, as we produced it; a black fur hat; a black cloth dress coat; a black satin vest, and dark mixed pantaloons, and a pair of kip boots produced he said he wore the day before. The fur hat and boots were found in the kitchen, and all of the other clothes in the bedroom. Mr. White took the vest; couldn't identify the vest or the boots. The boots in Court were the ones he wore to the jail. We asked him if he wore the shirt he had on the day before; he said no, that he wore a white shirt. We asked him where it was. He said it was about the house or something to that effect. After we had found the shirt up stairs we asked him if the shirt in the basket of clothes up stairs was the one he wore and he said it was. Witness then turned to Mrs. Thompson, and asked her if Radcliff came up the stairs on Sunday evening. Prisoner was not far from us. Witness addressed Mrs. Thompson with a view to Radcliff's not interfering. Prisoner made comment on some of the answers of Mrs. Thompson to questions of witness.

Mr. Smith here objected to any conversation with Mrs. Thompson which prisoner did not hear—objection sustained.

The question put by witness to Mrs. Thompson, witness says, was the only question put at that time. Mr. Thompson came into the room soon after prisoner was dressed; when he came into the room, witness asked him at what time Radcliff came home Sunday night. Mr. Radcliff was present and heard the question, and Mr. Thompson said about 10 o'clock. Prisoner then made some remarks in relation to the time, the purport of which was that it was earlier. Mr. Thompson then qualified his statement and said it was between 9 and 10, and Thompson finally concluded that it was about nine. Witness inquired of Mrs. T. afterwards, what time he came home: is not sure that prisoner heard it. Witness found Mr. Radcliff, his wife, two children and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson in the house. Witness was with prisoner that morning from one hour to one hour and a half; prisoner said nothing more about Ross than to deny that he killed him; witness has since heard him speak of the death of Ross Witness asked prisoner another question, if he and Ross stopped any where or called at any place, or if he (prisoner) on his return called at any place on Sunday evening. Prisoner's reply was in the negative; does not think anything was said about Ross' going to Cincinnati; remembers that prisoner said Ross and he parted at 8 o'clock near the corner at Kellogg's Saloon. Witness asked prisoner if he went immediately to Kellogg's corner, and his reply was in the affirmative, and also that he immediately returned. Witness thinks prisoner's house is about half a mile from Kellogg's Saloon, on 5th street, back of the old American buildings. We all left the house with prisoner and came up toward jail. Witness did not go to place of murder until 9 o'clock: saw spot of blood in the centre of Grove St.; saw another one near the west line of Grove St.: saw no more blood: saw Ross' body.

Cross. Examination. — When Conover knocked with his cane, witness couldn't say that White was there; he was in front.—The first noise heard within was a foot-step. After the last rap, two minutes elapsed before prisoner came to the door. They were standing on the upper step close by the door, when they asked if he knew Ross. Prisoner put his hand to his eyes frequently. We stepped in soon after; the door was closed before he was arrested.

We were all inside when witness put his hand on prisoner's shoulder. The meaning was heard soon after the door was opened, and it increased and became more earnest. It might have been the effect of bodily or mental suffering. We first ascertained who was making the noise when we went into the bed-room for the clothes; we found a woman and two children in bed there. She took part in the conversation after she came out; replied to inquiries; was crying and sobbing constantly. Witness doesn't remember his inquiries, until the shirt was found. She said the shirt was the one he wore the day before; she said he was in the habit of changing his shirt and putting on a striped shirt to sleep in; was positive witness and not prisoner's wife, found the shirt; couldn't say that she came out of the bed-room before they went up stairs; don't think she went up stairs at all. She did'nt attempt to secrete anything, or interfere, in any way, with search, nor did prisoner.

Prisoner asked his wife for some water, and for a pipe and tobacco, and told her to dress the children. There was no private conversation between them; didn't see any signs of a washing the night before; found no clothes that appeared to have been wet or washed the night before. Saw a wash-tub but there was no appearance of a recent use of it; saw no wet spots on the floor, and if there were any, he would not have noticed it, as there were children about.

The hat was on the lounge; the boots were on the floor, on the west side of the room.—Witness said it was the hat he wore the day before; noticed no stand in the stair-way; don't think the hat was on a stand; the hat was an ordinary black hat. Noticed no dust upon it; noticed nothing peculiar about it. The boots were considerably muddy; the mud nearly dry; the mud was light clay; the upper part was dry. The shirt was dry, but dirty. The other clothing was dry. The bottoms of pantaloons might have been a little wet. He said he wore a black dress coat the day before; witness saw it; it was in the bed-room; witness examined it and found it dry; didn't notice any dirt upon it; it looked clean.

Saw no other boots that had been worn; could'nt say whether the stoves were examined or not. The cellar was examined and nothing found to attract attention; found no other clothes in the chamber that looked wet or dirty; witness' recollection is that he put his hand on prisoners shoulder and used just these words: "Radcliff, you are the murderer of Ross." Witness did not say "Ross is murdered and Radcliff, you are his murderer." Witness had not mentioned before this, the fact that Ross had been murdered. Witness laid his hand on prisoners shoulder, not roughly, but earnestly; prisoner then said rubbing his eyes with his hand: "No, Mr. Page, I didn't do it."

He commenced dressing himself soon; can't recollect whether voluntarily or at witness' suggestion.

While he was dressing witness can't recollect that any conversation took place: witness had a pistol; impression is that Mr. Conover had a pistol. The pistols were charged when we got them at the jail. Witness had the irons in his pocket: first took them out before prisoner dressed, and White said, let him put on his coat first.

Thomson came into the room after the irons were put on; Mrs. Thomson came in a few moments after; Mrs. Radcliff had come into the kitchen before Mr. Thomson; commenced my inquiries of Mr. Thomson before Mrs. Thomson came in. It was only as to inquiries from Mrs. Thomson that witness desired prisoner not to hear.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomson were up stairs during the time of the searching of their room; they threw no obstacles in the way of search. White and witness made the search below; Conover and witness made the search above. We left home with deft. about ½ past 5; went there about 4. (The sun rose according to almanac produced by Mr. Ryan, on that morning, 8 minutes before 5, and the moon was new on the 1st of May, and on the evening of Sunday, 4th of May, it set at 10½.) The morning was clear, and rather cool; witness thinks he wore an over-coat, and that the rest did; had the irons in his pocket. There was no pistol visible or shown at prisoner's house; Sunday evening, according to witness recollection was pleasant; thinks there was no moon when witness went home after 10 o'clock.

Direct examination resumed.—Don't remember whether roads and sidewalks were wet or dry previous to the time of murder; on Monday they were dry; witness saw a brown sack coat as well as dress coat: examined it closely; this coat had out side pockets saw no shoes that had been worn; it is usual to carry arms on police business in the night

The Cross-examination resumed. — The situation of the ground about Radcliff's house is low and clayey; the street leading from Spring street to the house is low, and in wet time very muddy; the street at that time was generally dry; there was no water on the marsh; fifth street between Spring and Cedar, may be level with the marsh but does not remember distinctly; the marsh between the American buildings and Radcliff's house was dry at that time; we went up 3d street to Cedar; went into the lots on 4th street in rear of prisoners house; (one of the jurymen here asked if any bosoms or collar, apart from the shirt were found and he answered no;) found no marks on the sack coat; we found no dangerous weapons but common house hammers in the house; there was a box of tools up stairs; files, chisels, &c; witness examined them and saw no marks upon them; went to the house very often during the week; think once on Sunday; no discoveries of money or blood made except as stated; was not there in the night; the surrounding premises were examined; the yard and out houses; also the marsh between 4th and 5th street; no watch was kept up.

The Court adj'd till two o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Mr. Page recalled by defence.—Have taken an active part in ferreting out evidence in this matter, as an officer; more so, perhaps, than any other officer. (Counsel here explained that no imputation against witness was intended.)

Asked by prosecution, if he examined any other person but prisoner. Ans. No.

Asked by defence, if he examined Thompson's boots? Ans. Did not; did not notice whether there was any mud on them. In answer to the question, "When did your last see him?" Prisoner answered, "When he left the house"; recollection not distinct, however.

Mr. Reeves, whose cross-examination was put over on account of the burial of his child, was here called, and desired to make a correction. Witness says that Ross came to board with him about the 9th of April; his acquaintance commenced by trading with him at his store; don't know at what time the partnership was dissolved; does not know that Ross entered into any other business; cannot say whether Ross was accustomed to drink, or not; have seen him drink a few times; on his coming home, have sometimes thought he was a little in liquor, but not so much as not to be rational; he was away evenings, and sometimes all night; towards the latter part of his boarding with witness, he was away oftener all night, than at first; during the last week, he was away three nights in succession, and days likewise; during those nights and days, he was not at my house at all; cannot say whether he had withdrawn money from Mrs. Reeves, or not, previous to this time; don't know whether witness was at home when Ross came back, after three days and nights, or not; he appeared as usual; his temper was mild and equable always while at witness' house; do not know whether he visited groceries or not, except that on the Saturday evening previous, he went into a grocery with witness and took a glass of beer; the grocery was opposite Wiglers; Ross took dinner at my house on Sunday; he wore the clothes he usually wore every day; he did not tell me where he was going when he left. Direct examination confirmed as to leaving and as to his intention to return after going to P. O; Radcliff came to witness' house between 6 and 10 minutes past; Ross did not return; it was about 10 o'clock when Hoffman came to witness' house; it was rather cloudy; believes the moon was down; the three days and nights when Ross was absent were the four parts of the Saturday and Sunday previous was one of them; he was also absent on Friday night following; he gave as a reason for his absence that he had been in the country to buy a farm, this was after the three days absence; he gave no definite account of his absence on Friday night; he first spoke of going to Cincinnati before coming to board with me; and as witness supposed to reside; he first spoke of going on Monday the 5th of May on Saturday as witness thinks; and asked him to give him a helping hand to get ready; he mentioned the place in the country where he went; witness does not recollect the name of it; it was about forty miles distant; said it was where his uncle was; did not know that he had an uncle and have never seen him; spoke once or twice of relations in Boston; Ross was a Scotchman but do not know how long he had been in this country; from what he said he had been in the state since August previous to their acquaintance; hat was taken to witness house in the evening; the hole in the hat appeared to be broken; did not see the hat applied to his head after Ross was laid out; did not notice whether the hole corresponded to any bruise on the head; do not recollect seeing the hat applied at any time; don't recollect putting finger through the hole; the hole was ⅜ of an inch in size; the distance between the nearest part of the body and the marsh was about three feet; the marsh was more wet in the centre than at the side; the marsh was wet at that time; a person could not get through the marsh where tracks were without miring into the muck; the tracks I saw were from an inch to an inch and a half deep; witness did not follow the tracks at all in the morning; Mr. Wheelock was with him; don't recollect having seen prisoner before the Sunday when he came to his house: prisoners first inquiry was—does Mr. Ross board here—witness answered he did; prisoner then asked if he was at home; witness said he was not; prisoner then said he was a curious fellow, or something to that effect—that he was a smart chap, and that it would take one all day to find him. Witness told him he had been at home all day, until 2 o'clock, and when he went out said he would be back between 5 and 6. Wit. turned to his clock and said, You had better sit down as it is a little past the time. Ratcliffe came in and sat down. He said that Ross was a fine fellow—an innocent fellow—and he wanted to find him; he said he had sent to Cincinnati by him. He said, He is going to Cincinnati in the morning—as if he had heard that he was going. Did not say to whom he wanted to send a letter; did not speak of having a brother in Cincinnati; the boxes stood in the same room where prisoner was; one chest might have been in Ross's room; there was a label on one of them; put there when witness owned it; don't know that there was any particular occasion for his speaking of Ross's joining with the girl, except in connection with what he said at that time; prisoner said he wanted to see him, and must see him; witness's wife remarked that she thought Ross was coming, and upon this, he stepped to the window and looked out; there was nothing in prisoner's dress that attracted attention; it was near two o'clock when Ross counted money; witness was about six feet from him; witness did not look at the pieces with sufficient care to tell the number; did not count the money Ross entrusted to his wife; the distance from witness' house to Elizabeth street is about half the length of a lot; the distance from front of house to Grove street, is eight feet; don't know a house or grocery kept by Mr. Evans; never heard Ross speak of such a grocery; the belt seemed uniformly divided off into small compartments; witness did not examine it carefully; there was a buckle on one end of it; Ross, when he put money in belt, distributed it among the several apartments; he had more than one watch; saw the gold chain before.

Direct Examination resumed.—There was no water lying on the surface of the marsh; it was merely wet land; (a dirk knife was here exhibited to witness, and witness recognized it as belonging to Ross; another one was also shown him, but witness could not say that he had ever seen it;) there was a gold watch found in belt; the other was a silver one; does not know what became it, or that it was seen after Ross's death; the streets in our part of the town

CONSUMPTION OF THE LUNGS.

SYMPTOM.—When Consumption commences its work upon the lungs in its usual form, the first symptom is a cough. As the disease advances the cough becomes much more frequent, and is attended with the expectoration of matter, which is sometimes colorless, but at others, assumes a yellowish or greenish hue, and will often be found mixed with streaks of blood. After the cough has continued for a time the patient will experience some difficulty in breathing accompanied, perhaps, with a pain in the chest, and frequently in one or both sides. The patient will be subject to a hectic fever, and alternate flushes of heat, frequent cold chills, and often with copious night sweats.

Those threatened with Consumption should bear in mind that "Piso's Extract of Wild Cherry" is the remedy, that has performed cures of Consumption that were thought almost miraculous—cures which have astonished the medical world, and brought the bloom of health to many a pallid cheek, and joy and gladness to many a despairing bosom.

For Secy. of State.—John Osborn.

For Auditor.—D. McGuire.

The decision in the Ecclesiastical Court, in the case of Rev. Mr. Prescott, who has been tried for heresy, was made known this morning. The charges were all declared not to be sustained, except that where he claimed the right to propounce absolution generally to persons who came to him voluntarily. The Court pronounced this heretical, but irregular, and sentenced him to be suspended until he signs a certificate disclaiming his claim and right. The defendant claims this as virtually an acquittal throughout, denying the right of the Court to refuse a certificate.

Trial of the Lost Child.

Oshkosh, Feb. 21.

Friend Beeson:—The "Lost Child" case is not yet disposed of. The matter was argued pro and con by the counsel, before Commissioner Butrick, on Saturday last. Commissioner announced that his decision would be given on the 6th proximo.

It is said that the matter will be carried up to a higher court, whatever the decision may be.

The general feeling is strong and determined in favor of Mr. Partridge. And it is current talk here, that whatever may be the legal decision, the people will never permit the Indians to take the child back among them.—Fond du Lac Patriot. C. J. A.

ERIE RAILWAY ARRANGEMENTS.—We learn from the Dunkirk Journal, that the Erie Railway Co. have perfected their arrangements for the coming season of Lake navigation. The Board of Directors have ordered the construction of extensive additions to the Company's present wharves; and that everything connected with the Lake business of the road, will be on a scale fully corresponding with its immense operations.

The arrangements for the different lines of boats will vary somewhat from those of last season. There will be a daily line from that place to Cleveland and Detroit, the same as last season, while the Toledo and Southern Michigan railroad line will run daily, starting from Buffalo, and connecting with the Express trains there, both ways. This line will consist of new and magnificent boats, built at Buffalo the present winter, expressly for the line. Other and minor arrangements, for the way ports, are not yet fully consummated.

ORIGIN OF THE MAINE LIQUOR LAW.—It is stated that this bill passed the Lower House of the Maine Legislature with the confident expectation that it would be defeated in the Senate. As the members of the Senate did not like the idea of assuming the responsibility of defeating the bill, they passed it for the Governor to veto. When it was brought to Governor Hubbard, he expressed his indignation at their folly in passing such a bill, and saying, "If they want the bill, let them have it," he put his official signature to it, and it became the famed Maine Law.

☞ WATER WORKS AT MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN.—We see by the "Milwaukee Sentinel," that the Council of Milwaukee have concluded a contract with John Lock wood Esq., of this city, J. W. Glidden, Esq., of Dayton, and others, for the erection of water works at Milwaukee. We congratulate our Lake friends in their prospects of soon being supplied bountifully with water, and can assure them that if necessary to ensure its success, that Messrs. Lockwood and Glidden can, without any assistance, erect the water works themselves.—Cincinnati Gazette.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR 1852.

AS the season for emigration approaches, we beg to acquaint our friends and the public with our Arrangements for the year 1852, and would inform them, that with an increase of business—for which we are grateful—we are placed in possession of greater facilities for conducting the Emigration and Foreign Exchange Business than any other House in the World, and for which—in a great measure—we have to thank a discerning public for their continued patronage.

THE ECONOMIST
DOUBLE OVEN COOKING STOVE,
(Which received the First Premium at the State Fair, lately held at Janesville.)

Possesses great advantages over every other stove, for plain flues and direct application of heat, being so arranged that one or both ovens can be used at pleasure. It will cook in half the time of any other stove now in use, and with half the fuel, not consuming over four cords of wood in one year.

THE TRIUMPH, single oven, takes in long wood, is an excellent stove—one that has been well tested, and given general satisfaction.

THE PIEMIDUM is different in its construction from any other made, in the arrangement of the fire back—an acknowledged to be a great improvement.

THE LONG PARLOR is adapted to either wood or coal, being decidedly the neatest arrangement ever offered to the public, having all the convenience of the stove combined with the appearance of the open grate. It is beautifully ornamental, highly finished, and perfect in every respect—the entire front above and below the grate being opened or closed when there is no fire, and so arranged that when open they are completely out of sight. It is equally adapted to others as well as parlors.

The RADIATOR is the best cool stove ever got up as a roaster of heat.

Persons purchasing their stoves of us in the event of any of the plates of the same getting broken, are at all times supplied with extra ones, thus superseding the necessity of throwing away stoves, which many are daily compelled to do in buying Eastern made stoves.

Those who are in want of an articles in our line, will find it to their advantage to give us a call, before purchasing elsewhere, as we are confident that we can give satisfaction in all cases. City references given, where our stoves can be seen in operation. Stoves delivered and set up in any part of the city, free of charge. All orders promptly attended to.

STATE FAIR.

CRANE'S PATENT SOAP took the FIRST PREMIUM at the late State Fair in Janesville; also at the State Fair of the State of New York, and at the Great Fair of the American Institute. Of course it did, because it is the BEST Soap in the world. If any are still skeptical, let them read the following—the names to which might be indefinitely extended—and then try it for themselves, and if it don't succeed, they don't follow the directions.

We have used CRANE'S PATENT SOAP in our families for the past eight months, and pronounce it FULLY EQUAL to its recommendations. We do not discover that it injures the skin in the least. It is the cheapest soap in use. We should not willingly do without it.
